

I Ching Online Consultation Services

For our consultations online we use the Method of the Six Lines, also known as Wen Wang Gua or Huo Zhu Lin. This is one of the most advanced and effective methods for the consultation of the I Ching and has a high degree of accuracy, also giving patterns of solutions for some problems that could be reflected in the reading.

The consultation topics are diverse and we will introduce them one by one.

Business corporations. When working in partnership with another person or may want to incorporate, there may be some doubts about the desirability of the partnership. Through the analysis of the method of the six lines you can find out not only whether the partnership is desirable, but also if the partner has the real intent of working with you; if the partnership will have the backing of state or financial institutions; if they will have good contracts; if the subordinate staff will support the company or not and of course if the economy will be favorable.

Economic fortune. This is a frequently consulted issue and the method of the six lines is also well suited for the inquiry. Through the analysis of the Hexagram not only can you know if the economic fortune is favorable or not, but also how it could be better for example, if it is more convenient to work in partnership with friends or if you would have better economic fortune working in a public or private institution as well as the areas in which it is more convenient to work or those to be avoided to prevent economic losses and optimize performance.

Charges. Appropriate for those who work in companies or institutions where the staff is divided into different instances or administrative hierarchies. Through the analysis of the Hexagram you can find out if you are to retain a post, get a promotion, whether or not you have the support of subordinates and if you will be recognized for the merits carried out at work or not.

Marriage. Convenient when one is still undecided about a relationship; the Hexagram can determine the characteristics of the affective relationship, coexistence, support you'll receive from the person and other important topics that can help make a better decision.

Children. Learn about the health, intelligence and obedience of the children, as well as the spiritual affinity with the parents. If we have an idea of what aspect can be developed better, we can guide them properly so that they have a better future and thus avoid loss of time by a poor selection of career or occupation.

Studies. To find out if you will succeed in tests and move on to the next cycle or will complete the studies for a smooth graduation. Also if you will receive outstanding qualifications or you'll pass with difficulty.

Brothers. This consultation is to know how are our relationships with our peers, brothers or cousins, as well as friends and co-workers. We will thus know if our environment is favorable or not, if we should always work with those we know or if it is most convenient to maintain safe distance from them and work only with strangers.

Health. Not only to know the current health status, it also helps us to know if we have a disease not yet manifested, as well as the degree of difficulty in the treatment of an illness we may suffer. The Hexagram will present a given pattern on the kind of treatment within Chinese medicine that is most advisable for the discomfort.

Trials. Before starting a judicial process or even if you are already in the midst of a dispute, it is convenient to consult this method because it not only indicates if the trial is in your favor or not, but whether the judge will rule in your favor, if you will get money or will you lose, if the evidence or documents that are counted are solid or not so that you can have greater clarity with regard to the process and to be able to make the best decision.

Annual fortune. Through the Hexagram of consultation you can know how you will do in a given year and what will be the more favorable or less favorable aspects for that year, for example, if the year is auspicious to study or if it will be auspicious for the economy, if it will be a year in which you should not undertake economic projects or if you must watch out for legal matters.

Feng shui of dwellings or offices. Feng shui yang deals with the spaces in which human beings operate and the method of six lines is available to inquire regarding the feng shui of a home or office. Through the analysis you can know if the energy of the ground or subsoil is favorable, if the door is auspicious or will bring economic losses, if the construction or distribution of the spaces is convenient, if the problems have nothing to do with the feng shui and it's personal affairs that interfere, as well as if the house or office has contamination of energy by presences of the space yin (ghosts). In addition to the analysis, suitable instructions are given to resolve the issues of the feng shui of the place if there were any.

Feng shui of tombs. Feng shui yin is the most traditional and practiced in all of southern China, especially in the provinces of Guangdong and Fujian. The influence of a tomb reaches five generations of a family and through the analysis of the Hexagram we can know what kind of influence It has for the descendants, if it is auspicious or not for the economy, if it is favorable for the academic performance of children or if it encourages the bureaucratic careers of descendants. In case of problems in feng shui yin it is most advisable to move the tomb, which will require a new consultation after having found the new location to find out if it will be auspicious or not.

The cost of the consultation is US $100 for a Hexagram and the result is delivered three days after the deposit is made. The written report with analysis of the Hexagram and recommendations has at least one page.

The cost of the consultations of feng shui yang is US $200 for an Hexagram and the report can have up to two pages. In some cases more pages because of the explanations of the recommended methods to stabilize the energy of the House.